

Separation from family is a difficult challenge for all to bear. Telephone conversation helps to ease that burden but when the cost is way above the norm, there is something wrong. Prisons profit by charging exorbitant rates for phone calls to family. There is no other reason for choosing the phone companies that are used, except to bring profit to the prisons. This is inexcusable. Lower the prison phone rates.